

Harrison Quiet After Lynching; 200 Are Exiled

Arkansas Governor Recalls Troops As "Committee" Finishes Work
FLOG STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS
Mob Seeks Vengeance For Burning Of Bridges In Rail Workers' Dispute

By Associated Press
Harrison, Ark.—Following two days of intense excitement, the result of "armed action" by citizens gathered here from a radius of 150 miles in which one man was lynched, another wounded during a roundup of alleged strikers and more than 200 persons were forced to leave the community by a "committee of 1,000" Harrison Wednesday took on a normal atmosphere. Further trouble was not expected to follow the "cleanup" of persons believed to be guilty of, or had knowledge of the bridge burnings and other depredations along the line of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad.

The body of E. C. Greger, alleged striking shopworker, was found Tuesday morning hanging from a railway trestle. Greger is said to have resisted attempts of an investigating body of citizens when they sought Monday night to question him regarding the identity of persons suspected of carrying on a campaign of sabotage.

Shortly after the capture of Greger, George W. O'Neal, local hotel owner and capitalist, who is said to have furnished bail bond for many strikers, charged with sabotage, was taken from his home and whipped. Night Marshal Rash, who was accused by the committee of being a strike sympathizer also was flogged and ordered to leave town. E. D. Stephens, a former engineer, wanted by the committee was not located. Governor McRae who had been appealed to for troops hurriedly sent a joint message to the legislature asking for authority to dispatch troops to the affected district and, if necessary, declare martial law. Both houses of general assembly authorized the executive to act and troops were ordered to enroute. Later advices from the Boone County officials stating the situation had improved however caused the governor to suspend the order for military action.

Later, it is alleged, they intimidated that for $500, the case could be hushed up. The saloonkeeper had his suspicions and agreed to pay the sum to the men at a designated place. He then notified the police and as he was about to hand over the money chief of police Groling stepped and arrested the men.

HIRST HAS NO PLANS TO ALTER STATE HIGHWAY

Highway Engineer Denies He Said Route 15 Will Be Taken From Twin Cities

"WEST ROAD" INEVITABLE
Relief For Congestion Must Be Found—No Funds Available For Work

The Wisconsin highway commission has never said that it will reroute Highway 15 over the road west of the Fox river, between Appleton and Neenah, and it is doubtful if the highway ever will be rerouted over that road. A. R. Hirst, engineer of the commission, said in a statement to The Post-Crescent in response to a letter asking more information concerning the commission's plans for development of the Brickyard road and diverting through traffic over it. Mr. Hirst hints that a misconstruction was placed on his letter to John Conway relative to the highway.

Mr. Hirst also said that the ultimate solution of the traffic congestion problem in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton is to divert the through traffic, not desiring to stop in these cities, to the west of the river, but no funds are available for that work at this time and that improving the west road would be very expensive inasmuch as it involved elimination of several grade crossings. Because there is no money available, the final surveys have not been made and the commission does not know just what course the road will take. Mr. Hirst says, however, that in a few years relief must be given over that road or a new route along the east shore of the lake, probably referring to Lake Winnebago, must be found.

Mr. Hirst's letter, printed below, was in response to a request from The Post-Crescent that he state definitely the commission's plans for the road west of the river. The newspaper endeavored to secure all the facts relative to the bridge construction controversy here and asked Mr. Hirst to state the commission's views and when the proposed work was to be started.

The Post-Crescent's letter to Mr. Hirst follows:
Jan. 11, 1923.
"Your recent letter to Mr. John Conway of this city relative to the Highway Commission's plan to reroute state trunk highway 15 from Neenah to Appleton over the road on the west side of the Fox River was published in the Post-Crescent. Since its publication it is argued by persons involved in the controversy over proposed bridges across the river that this letter is part of propaganda against one of the proposed locations. We believe that neither you nor the highway commission would make a statement like the one given Mr. Conway unless you meant just what you said."

"We would like a letter from you again setting forth your plan to improve the road between Neenah and Appleton west of the river and relocating highway 15 for publication in our paper. If it is possible we would like to have you state when this work will be commenced and what your plan is for overcoming the hazards of the grade crossings on that road. We want to present all the facts involved in our bridge problem here and rerouting of highway 15 we believe is an important factor to be considered."

"We would appreciate an early statement of the highway commission's intention relative to improving the Brick Yard road and rerouting the highway."

Here is Mr. Hirst's reply:
"We have your letter of the 11th instant, relative to the ultimate proposed belt line on the west side of the river.
"This letter meant just what it said—no more, no less. It did not state that State Trunk Highway No. 15 would be routed on the west side of the river and I doubt very much that it will be. The state highway commission is studying the traffic problem presented in the three cities was to divert the through traffic not desiring to pass through the three cities to the west."

U. S. SHIPPING IS FACING BREAKDOWN

Need Quick Action On Ship Subsidy, Is Claim Of Southern Merchants

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923 by the Est. Pub. Co.
Washington — The ship subsidy bill has gotten into such a jam in the senate that the entire American shipping business is facing an uncertainty bordering on chaos.

About the only hope for the measure lies in the pleas of southern businessmen who have been advised that virtually all the south Atlantic and Gulf lines established by the United States Shipping board must be abandoned immediately after March 4 if the ship subsidy isn't passed. There is talk also of the resignation of the entire shipping board. If this does not happen, the president will find it necessary to reorganize the board and fill several vacancies.

LASKER TO QUIT
Chairman A. D. Lasker has told his associates on the board that he will retire on June 1 irrespective of whether the bill passes or not. He has given two years of time to the problem and is anxious to return to private business. Several other members are ready to leave but are holding on in the hope that they may be of some help in the transition period between government operation and the private control contemplated by the ship subsidy bill.

UP TO CONGRESS
The president has told senators that if the ship subsidy bill fails, he will put squarely upon congress the responsibility for sharing a shipping policy and that congress will have to keep on appropriating annually many times the sum asked for subsidy or else sell the ships to foreign buyers at remnant prices as American shipping men claim they cannot operate under American laws without a subsidy.

The reason the South Atlantic and Gulf lines are to be abandoned is that they are losing heavily for the government. These lines were established in conformity with the act continuing the present shipping board. That act directed the board to set up certain trade routes to benefit American shippers. The section most in need of these lines was the south with its heavy cotton shipments. Without regular lines, cotton growers of the south would be compelled to ship to northern ports and pay the high freight rates.

Order Police Chief To Appear In Court

Chief Andrew Lueck Of New London Charged With Refusing To Send Daughter To School—In Clash With School Official

Arrest of Andrew Lueck, chief of police of New London by Waukegan authorities is the culmination of a fight which has been in progress for several weeks between that official and E. N. Calf, director of New London vocational school over the enforcement of the state law relating to school attendance.

Chief Lueck was summoned before Judge Martin at Waukegan Monday when he refused to permit his daughter, who is said to be within school age to attend the vocational school at New London. He was ordered to show cause why the girl should not attend. The case has been continued until Jan. 24.

Mr. Calf has been director of the school for the last year and a half, and declares that during that time he could get no cooperation from Chief Lueck and members of the police force in enforcing the truancy law.

Mr. Calf declares that in a city the size of New London the police may act as truant officers without additional pay, and their refusal to serve is costing the taxpayers three or four hundred dollars extra every year for special officers.

It is believed that the preferring of charges against the chief will serve as a test case as to the duties of the police in matters of this kind, and will define their jurisdiction.

Magnates Declare They Will Not Furnish Coal To Invaders

FRANCE TO OPERATE MINES

Authorities Announce They Will Requisition Ruhr Labor Men

BULLETIN
Duesseldorf—(5:30 P. M.)—It was officially announced by General DeGoutte Wednesday afternoon that the military operations of the Ruhr occupation now are completely finished.

Essen — The French occupational authorities announced that they will begin operating the mines of the Ruhr district Thursday requisitioning German labor if necessary. The Ruhr coal and industrial magnates who refused to cooperate with the French will be prosecuted before a court martial.

Duesseldorf—Representatives of the German magnates failed to appear Wednesday morning before the control commission sending word they had decided to obey the instructions of the Berlin government instead of the French orders as to coal deliveries, thus placing the next move squarely up to the France occupying authorities.

Thirty-two labor leaders representing all the districts and all the trades in the Ruhr including the Catholics, Socialists and Communists, Syndicates of miners, railroad men and steel and iron workers, were introduced. Dr. Groetzner, Prussian governor of Duesseldorf province, acted as their spokesman.

BLAMES GERMAN GOVERNMENT
General Simon told the labor leaders, France was the friend of the workmen. The German government was responsible for the recent events and was going to sacrifice the workmen to its imperialist policy. It had permitted the food stocks to become depleted and cared little whether its own nationals starved or not.

Dr. Groetzner, laboring under great emotion, rose and said:
"I cannot listen to such lies, to such an unjust arraignment of my government. I withdraw."

He then left the conference.

THREATEN WITH REPRISALS
The French were warned to carry out their threats of reprisals and imprisonment. It would appear, and the Germans are determined to resist the developments likely to occur if by 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the magnates do not recede from their present stand.

Experts are at work on a plan for operating the mines with German labor and French engineers. Additional engineers have been instructed to come from France immediately and are expected to arrive by Wednesday night. They number 200 men—less than one for every pit head in the Ruhr.

CLASH IN DORTMUND

Dortmund—Demonstrations by Nationalists in the streets of Dortmund late Tuesday evening caused clashes with Communistic labor elements but intervention by the French forces was not necessitated.

The French have reinforced the troops of occupation here as further trouble is expected Wednesday evening. The Nationalists intend to hold a street parade which the French commander has forbidden, announcing he would suppress it if attempted.

GET ULTIMATUM

Duesseldorf—Ruhr valley coal operators had before them Wednesday, the French ultimatum that if deliveries were not resumed Wednesday morning "the military authorities would take such measures as were deemed necessary."

The attitude of the German magnates however, seemed to be epitomized in a remark made by Herr Thomas, representative of the Stinnes interests. He said:
"We are perfectly willing to go to jail but under no conditions shall we resume deliveries."

So far as was indicated in advices reaching this city this morning, not a chunck of reparations coal or coke was being sent to France or Belgium by any of the Ruhr mines. It was reported that in some instances shipments intended for south Germany were being diverted westward by the occupation authorities. It was said that deliveries to Italy were continuing.

In addition to accepting the report of the chemist and chief engineer, the commission allowed a payroll of $862.33 and general accounts of $20, 136.62. Of this amount, $15,518.54 was taxes paid to the city on the utility, and $4,465 was interest on bonded indebtedness.

POOR DISTRIBUTION KEEPS FARMER POOR

American Farmer Most Efficient But Is In Hardest Straights

By Associated Press
Columbia, Mo.—Although the American farmer is said to be the most efficient in the world, none is in a more difficult financial position than he has occupied during the last three years.

E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau federation declared in an address at the annual meeting of the federation here Tuesday.

Agricultural depression, Mr. Bradfute asserted, is largely attributed to the following conditions:

1.—Overproduction of farm products with no adequate or profitable demand for the surplus, which now must go for export, no method of limiting or controlling the surplus or method of orderly distribution throughout the year, and a lack of established grades.

2.—Transportation inadequate to the needs of agriculture, and ruinously costly.

3.—A financial credit system without sufficient flexibility to meet the demands of agriculture. For general exchange in other commodities, Mr. Bradfute asserted, the farm product dollar is worth only 66 cents.

Lawrence Gets $100,000 Gift? Plantz Laughs

A news story carried by the Associated Press quoting Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, as announcing that the college had received a gift of $100,000 from a Wisconsin man who does not want his name divulged, created quite a stir Wednesday morning until Dr. Plantz laughed when he was asked to verify the dispatch. It developed the gift was the same one that was announced many weeks ago and that the information in the "news story" was "old stuff." It developed that the story had been broadcasted by the Lawrence college publicity bureau which neglected to state that the gift was not a recent one.

Snow Too Deep; Couple Forced Train To Stop

The engineer of a heavy south-bound passenger train of the Northwestern Railway Co. was compelled to use the emergency brakes of his train Monday afternoon to prevent running down at Story-st crossing a couple that sauntered along leisurely between the rails. HIRST HAS NO PLANS TO ALTER STATE HIGHWAY of them. It is an ultimate proposition in line with the present trend of highway developments as to routing and handling intense traffic through congested areas.

Highway Engineer Denies He Said Route 15 Will Be Taken From Twin Cities

"We have no funds available to build this west river road at the present moment, and I can make no prediction as to when it will be built or as to its exact route. It will be an expensive proposition inasmuch as it must involve the elimination of all grade crossings, and inasmuch as there are no funds available for this project we have not made the final surveys and do not know the exact course of the final solution. It is, however, inevitable that in the course of a few years this relief must be given at this point or a solution must be found on the east side of the lake.

"We have no desire to enter into the controversy in Appleton as to the merits of the various bridge propositions. Mr. Conway asked us to indicate what we believed would be the final solution from a statewide standpoint and a nationwide standpoint of the difficult conditions prevailing through the centers of Neenah-Menasha and Appleton. As a citizen of Wisconsin he was entitled to a statement relative to the matter, which we gave him.

"Very respectfully
"Wisconsin Highway Commission
"By A. R. Hirst
"State Highway Engineer."

Publication of Mr. Hirst's letter to Mr. Conway was followed immediately by a storm of protests from Neenah and Menasha against the alleged plan of the commission to reroute Highway 15 in order to avoid the Twin Cities. Mayor Schoetz of Menasha, hurried to Madison to confer with the commission and the Neenah newspaper immediately wrote to Mr. Hirst, requesting a more detailed explanation. Neenah residents were up in arms and there were threats of a fight if any attempt was made to take the highway out of the twin cities.

Mr. Hirst replied to the Neenah letter in much the same way that he wrote to the Post-Crescent, denying that he had said that Highway 15 would be rerouted so as not to pass through Appleton, Neenah and Menasha. He said it is inevitable that an adequate highway will be built on the west side of the river but that does not mean that Highway 15 would not be routed through the centers of the three cities in question.

His letter to the Neenah newspaper follows:

"At no point in my letter to Mr. Conway was it suggested that State Trunk Highway No. 15 should be rerouted so as not to pass through Neenah-Menasha and Appleton. A statement was made that ultimately the solution of the traffic in the neighborhood of Neenah-Menasha and Appleton would dictate the building of a belt line around these congested conditions on the west side of the river. There is nothing new or novel about this idea. The construction of an adequate road on the west side of the river has been a moot point in this neighborhood ever since the highway movement started in Wisconsin. It is absolutely inevitable that an adequate highway will be built on the west side of the river within a reasonable period. That does not mean that State Trunk Highway No. 15 would not be routed through the central portions of the cities in question. The belt line would simply be of service to that heavy traffic which had no desire to stop in either city, and to the high speed commercial and business traffic, the destination of which was not either of the three cities.

The tourist traffic desires to see the places through or near which they pass, but the bulk of our traffic is not tourist traffic. As a matter of fact, even on the main highways in Wisconsin it is probably less than 15 per cent of the total annual traffic. We are not concerned essentially with this tourist traffic. We are concerned with building up a system of highways that will serve the agricultural and commercial interests of the state with economy and efficiency.

"I am,
"Yours very sincerely,
"Wisconsin Highway Commission
"By A. R. Hirst
"State Highway Engineer."

SUGGEST FEDERAL LICENSES AND GAS TAX FOR AUTOISTS

Extra Fees For Highway Expense Sure To Devolve On Owners Of Cars

The great national game of taxing the motorist has resolved itself into a problem of how to do it with the least possible provocation on the part of the victims.

Revenues have to be gathered somehow and the automobile owners seem a likely source for profit. Therefore, revolving in the minds of our representatives, both at national and state capitals, are schemes by which the motorist will contribute more to the finances of the country.

In his present state of blissful compliance with the demands of the tax collector, the motorist generally contributes an annual license fee to the state and a personal property payment to the county and city.

Of course, when he buys his car he pays a 5 per cent war duty to the national government.

GASOLINE DUTY

Besides, certain states require special additional payments, most prominent of which is the gasoline tax of 1 or 2 cents a gallon. But although this tax is being collected in some states, its constitutionality is being considered in the U. S. Supreme Court.

Somewhat, these forms of taxation have not satisfied the authorities as contributing sufficiently to the upkeep of state and federal highways, besides paying the regular duties others are subject to. So various additional forms of knocking the motorist have been conceived.

One is the exacting of a federal license fee, for which each auto owner will get a federal tag and for which he will be allowed to tour through all states in the union without being obliged to pay a duty to each state in case of overstaying the time limit. The bill providing this is now being considered in committee of the lower house in Washington.

Another form of taxation being considered there is a federal highway tax, for which motorists will pay according to the weight and use of their machines. This duty is designed to be taken especially from truck owners, whose heavy machines have been tearing up the country's highways.

Then, for the states, there is consideration of a state highway tax on the same principle. This might take the form of an increase in the license fees of certain vehicles, such as trucks, motor buses and "demonstrators," which are said not to be paying sufficient revenue for the use of the roads.

Another form of taxation is the licensing of all drivers, including auto owners, at the cost of from $1 to $5 each. Besides, each driver being liable to undergo a mental and physical examination.

All this beside the revenue contributed by traffic law violators.

MR. HIRST'S LETTER

New light was thrown on the problem of bridges with which this city is struggling, by a letter from A. R. Hirst, engineer of the Wisconsin Highway commission, printed on the front page of The Post-Crescent today, in which he says the commission had never stated it plans to reroute Highway 15 to avoid the cities of Neenah, Menasha and Appleton, but that the ultimate solution of the congestion problem in these three cities is an adequate highway west of the Fox river between Neenah and Appleton.

The Post-Crescent suggested to the council two weeks or more ago that it go slow in carrying out its bridge program until it had exhausted every possibility that there might be some other means of solving our city's traffic problems without making necessary an expenditure of from $250,000 to $300,000. The letter from Mr. Hirst previously published in the Post-Crescent in which he referred to the commission's plans for improving the west road between Neenah and Appleton. The Post-Crescent believed, offered a way out of Appleton's difficulties, if the work was to be started in the very near future. It suggested to the council that it thoroughly investigate this possibility before it definitely committed the city to an extensive program of bridge building.

The Post-Crescent had pursued a policy of "hands off" in the matter of locating and building bridges until it became evident that there was a definite sentiment in Appleton that taxes already are high and that other means of relieving traffic congestion might be found. This newspaper has endeavored to acquaint the council with this feeling and suggested that the council take every precaution to protect the interests of the taxpayers.

Mr. Hirst's letter to the Post-Crescent, in response to a request for definite information on the highway commission's plans, in our opinion does not offer immediate relief from traffic congestion. He says that construction of the west road is the ultimate solution, but also says that the commission has no funds with which to do this work at the present moment. Because of this lack of money, the final surveys have not been made. This all indicates that no relief from that quarter can be expected for a considerable time.

In the meantime traffic congestion here will continue to grow. If we had assurances that the highway would be ready for use in 1924 we might be able to put up with the inconvenience of heavy traffic for another year with the prospect of deferring a bridge building program costing several hundred thousand dollars until costs are lowered, but we have no such assurance. It is possible the highway will not be completed for two or three or even four years and in that interim our traffic problem will become infinitely worse than it is now.

The Post-Crescent has not been interested in the factional controversy here over the location of a bridge, nor has it been swayed by arguments of persons interested in deferring the entire bridge program or the arguments of those who wanted the council to continue its course. It is studying the situation independently, endeavoring to secure all the facts bearing on the situation, and is making suggestions accordingly.

HALF MILLION FOR JACKIE COOGAN

You may believe it or not, the child actor, has been offered $500,000 to appear in four motion pictures. This would be $41,666.66 a month for a year's work, minus the income tax.

Part of a players' salary is always worth as much as German or Russian printing press currency. But part is real money. However, no matter what the proportion may be, Jackie will be well paid. Jackie is one of the stars of the movies. It might be possible to find or train another child, but his personality is already capitalized, as he has been featured in previous productions. Whatever amount the company has offered Jackie it is confident that it can earn.

The play and the actor are the first important factors in a dramatic production. The play must be good and the actor must be good. This is a successful combination. Jackie is offered $500,000 to appear in four pictures because the company is reasonably sure that his reputation and individuality would draw the public. Actor's salaries are based on business theories.

THE END OF EUROPE'S TROUBLE

The trouble between France and Germany started 1080 years ago. At Verdun, in the year 843, Charlemagne's three grandchildren quarreled over grandpa's will and divided his property. Strongest of the three was Louis the German. He took for his share, land which has become known as Germany. Charles the Bold got the kingdom of the Franks, west of the Rhine—roughly speaking, modern France.

The third brother, Lothaire, was a weakling. So he got only the scraps, territory neither of his brothers coveted at the time. These scraps included Alsace, Lorraine, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and a strip of northern Italy. Descendants of Charles the Bold and Louis the German began fighting for Lothaire's property. They have been fighting over parts of it, ever since, so we can scarcely expect the dispute to be settled quickly.

After Charlemagne's grandchildren divided grandpa's estate, the supposedly worthless lands of Lothaire became valuable, powerful. It got so the Netherlands could swing the balance in a war between France and Germany. So the rivals agreed to split Netherlands into Belgium and Holland.

Switzerland won its own independence. Gradually Lothaire's kingdom broke up. The southern strip joined the confederation of Italian states. Luxembourg was neutralized. This left Alsace-Lorraine, with French and Germans both wanting it. Regularly it changes hands, back and forth. And now the descendants of Charles the Bold seem to think the Rhine is their natural frontier. Plain old family wrangle.

We wonder when the European mess will be straightened out. It may never be. Europe may be doomed to fall into the dust, like other civilizations of the past—Egypt, Babylon, China, Arabia. The people of Europe may tire of their staggering burden and flock to countries destined to be world powers within another century—such as Brazil, Australia and parts of Africa. People like all other forms of animal life, migrate when they find local problems beyond their powers of solution.

MURDER HAS BEEN DONE FOR LESS THAN THIS

There is a genial fellow of our acquaintance who possesses a daughter—a lucky dog. This particular man is a queer sort of a case and he has always thought along with Barrie that there are only two great epochs in a girl's life: contrary to all accepted thought upon the subject, marriage is not one of them. The first great event is when the initial recognizable smile rippled into baby laughter, the second when she puts up her hair.

This man we have in mind had made a sort of dream ritual of this latter and had planned a thousand ways in turning the matter over in his inner consciousness how he would invest the ceremony with a thousand little graces. They would talk about it ever so much beforehand and as the day drew near there would be many little backward flights and tumorous fears of how it would all turn out. In her childhood days he would often tell her little mane up backward to get a preview of the inevitable; and she, the little minx, would tantalize him in turn by parading before him with a mountain of finepun gold banded on her dainty little head. It was to be a monumental occasion and the poor fellow huzzed the thought to himself. They would plan for it as for a Lord Mayor's ceremonial.

The blow fell as most blows fall, suddenly, unexpectedly. He went home of an evening, carefree, joyous, to romp with this girl-child as of old. She was going to a party and she was fifteen going on sixteen, and her mother, without a word of preparation for the shock, with a thoughtlessness almost sublime, had borne her off to a hairdresser, where all the iniquitous rites of that diabolical institution were perpetrated. We doubt very much whether this genial fellow will ever be quite the same; the deepest, the most poignant hurts somehow or other always seem to come out of thoughtlessness and the failure to grasp even faintly the other fellow's point of view. BLOW CHILDREN. BLOW, BLOW WITH CARE

They're drilling children in England now in the rudimentary but important business of blowing the nose. And this art, simple and instinctive as it seems, threatens to become a lost art, like wiggling the ears, among children, to their physical injury. The nasal drill is of distinct advantage for relieving the symptoms of adenoids, and as a prevention of adenoids. Many cases of adenoids in school children must be ascribed to the depriving influence of five hours of confinement in foul air in schools. By foul air I mean air heated away above the healthful limit of 68 degrees Fahrenheit. Such air one encounters in nearly every indoor schoolroom in cold weather. I visited the principal of a large school the other day and found him basking under a room temperature of 75 degrees—and some folks were burning waste paper in their furnaces trying to keep warm. I told the principal that his school (the claims 2,000 pupils) is still stuck in the nineteenth century, and he thought I was just cautious.

Children attending these old fashioned schools almost fear to blow their noses in school, lest the old-fashioned teachers take offense and give them demerits. It is like moving your feet or whispering.

The nasal drill, as performed in staid old England, is as follows:

The children stand as far apart as possible in a room with the windows wide open. Each pupil holds in the hand a paper handkerchief. At the command ONE, all stand erect, chest out, shoulders back. TWO, hold handkerchiefs spread out in left hand beneath the nostrils. THREE, grasp the nose between the eyes with right thumb and forefinger, without compressing nostrils, elbow straight out at level of shoulder. FOUR, blow down the nose, bowing the head forward and down and at the same time bringing the elbow down against the side FIVE, breathe in through the mouth slowly raising the elbow again to level of shoulder.

Repeat, this rhythmically about ten times. Then burn the paper handkerchief.

Next the nose is irrigated by inducing sneezing by flicking or snuffing a mild powder, consisting of soap with a trace of menthol. After sneezing the pumping of the nose is repeated, first through one nostril, then through the other, are taken. The children should be encouraged to practice this at home.

To some this may seem a silly performance. Yet it seems very good to me. Youngsters from 4 to 12 years of age often do not know how to blow the nose properly and they should be taught. Never should a child blow the nose with the nostrils pinched together.

Regular performance of the nasal pumping drill brings about diminution of nasal discharge, often shrinkage of adenoid masses, improvement in the child's general condition, better carriage, less mouth breathing, less sneezing, diminished susceptibility to the respiratory infections, better appetite, better speech, better hearing.

I commend the drill to mothers whose children may be unavoidably exposed to the foul air school room and the nineteenth century style of school teacher.

Free Seeds Fail To Send
Alice Back To Congress

BY HARRY HUNT

Washington—The efficacy of free seeds in growing votes for congressmen often has been questioned.

At last the question seems to have been answered. They don't work. They're failures.

The champion seed distributor of Congress, says Frank Clarke, who has the contract for putting up and mailing out seeds for solons, is Miss Alice Robertson of Oklahoma.

"The largest single order we ever received was from Miss Robertson," he said. "It filled 850 mail bags—and of course it all went to Oklahoma."

These seeds went out in advance of Miss Robertson's recent race for reelection. Their futility was shown in her defeat. Had each package of seeds sprouted a vote, her reelection would have been unanimous.

The same day the House Judiciary Committee reported the failure of the impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty was announced at the Department of Justice department's chief had gone to French lick Springs to recuperate.

"Must've made him sick," suggested an anti-Daugherty member of Congressmen Keller, who instituted the impeachment proceedings.

"Yes. It makes me sick, too," said Keller, "but I can't go to French lick to get over it. I have to take my lickin' right here."

The decision of President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes to recall the American force on the Rhine has disappointed scores of officers who had their applications on a waiting list for assignment to Coblenz. There has been an average of 100 applications for every officer's post available in General Allen's command.

Assignment to the Rhine force was attractive both from financial and social standpoints. American dollars, translated into marks, gave even enlisted men incomes of 3,000-4,000 marks a year. Even with the devalued value of the mark, our men found their pay fabulously increased.

Many have taken their families to Germany and placed their children in continental schools, the cost of both living and education being infinitely below the cost in U. S. A.

Also, recognized as an important factor, but not stressed as a controlling reason, is:

The Volstead law was inoperative outside the actual military zone.

When Major General James E. Harbord was retired from active service with the army on retirement pay of $6,000 a year, he was promptly grabbed by the Radio Corporation of America and made president of a company well above the sum he continued to draw from Uncle Sam.

The ease with which this plum fell into Harbord's lap is reported to have proved certain other aspirants who had been trying in vain to shake the juicy job loose for themselves.

As a result the attention of Congress has been called to the fact Congress has provided retired navy officers may not draw retirement pay when they are drawing salaries.

from private connections involving business relations with government departments.

"If this provision is good for the navy, why not for the army, too?" is asked.

Inasmuch as the Radio Corporation is a large purveyor of apparatus to both army and navy, the question is likely to be pressed.

In which case Harbord stands to lose his $6000 annual pension.

Four Stages In School Of Love

(From The London Mail)

Love begins with the beginning of life itself, and not, as is commonly supposed, with the calf love which develops at the onset of manhood.

Nature puts us all through a course of love, which, beginning at babyhood leaves us at the threshold of adult life fully trained to find our mate. This course consists of four periods, three of which are preparatory, and the last a final finishing school. During this training process the main course of love is directed respectively towards self, parents, comrades and, finally, towards our lover or mate.

In the infant class the baby's chief interest is centered in himself. He is self-sufficient and finds his pleasures entirely within himself. He is in love with himself.

In the next stage, which begins before he is a year old, part at least of his love is directed toward people outside himself. He begins to love his parents and other members of his home circle.

Even in this early stage there is a foreshadowing of his future need. Thus the normal little boy, though fond of both his parents, is, as a rule, noticeably fonder of his mother. The little girl is fonder of her father.

It is during this stage that parents can give valuable guidance, especially by refraining from that sentimental, self-indulgent on their part which is frequently the cause of morbidity in the child later on.

The love of parents, brothers, sisters and nurses provide but temporary stopping places for the growing love, and the child at 4 or 5 years of age enters the third stage of the course.

He now begins to transfer some of his affection to playmates of his own sex, and little by little nature frees him from a too-hampering attachment to his family. He does not, of course, cease to love his family, but he no longer loves them exclusively.

Nature, having led the young life from self to parents and from parents to chums, now, in the fourth, or finishing off class, begins to set it free for its final adventure in loving.

A few false starts in the shape of calf love are made. They perfect the instinct which leads us to seek until we find our mate. It is a hard class, and some of the strains are tremendous, needing not laughter but all the wisdom and understanding the family have to offer.

Q. How can I treat cloth to make it pink when it rains and blue when it is dry? C. J.

A. Hygroscopes may be made by treating light muslin or paper with sympathetic ink. Immerse it in the following solution: cobalt chloride, 1 part; gelatine, 10 parts; water, 100 parts. The normal coloring is pink. This changes to violet in medium humid weather and to blue in very dry weather. Such a hygroscope is usually fashioned into a flower, or a crock for a paper doll.

Q. Was Canada ever called a Kingdom? C. P. C.

A. In the Canadian draft of the bill granting a Constitution to Canada, the word Kingdom was used. For that title Dominion was substituted at the instance of Lord Derby who thought that the title Kingdom might be offensive to the Americans.

Q. Is it correct to say that capital is money? W. H. L.

A. It is a mistake to say capital is money. A workhorse is a form of capital, but capital is not work horses, neither is capital money, although money is a form of capital.

Q. Has the rate of exchange an effect on commerce? A. C. B.

A. The Department of Commerce says that the present disordered exchange situation militates against the recovery of the world's commerce, but that it is an effect rather than a cause. Exchange has been likened to a barometer; the barometer indicates the weather, but it does not make the weather.

Q. Was the Home Rule for Ireland started? J. H. D.

A. This term in British politics designated a particular movement begun in 1870, to secure for Ireland a local legislature and thus recognized and satisfy a persistent sentiment of Irish nationalism.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that investigations show that the germination in cotton seed is injured often by heating in storage though it is generally believed.

Q. Was the earthquake on February 1st as severe as the San Francisco earthquake? F. E. D.

A. This earthquake was quite as severe as the one in 1906. Data have not been compiled concerning it as yet, but it was in an "earthquake area" that extends from British Columbia to Ecuador, and was probably along a fault in the earth's crust 200 to 300 miles long and severe for about 10 to 15 miles on each side of this line.

Q. Is wheat grown in Alaska? F. G.

A. The Department of Agriculture says some wheat has been grown in Alaska and that it has been demonstrated that it is possible to raise there a great part of the wheat needed in the Territory.

BEING JUST AS EXASPERATING AS POSSIBLE

Hustlers Of 'Y' Start 1923 Race

Boys Will Strive For Clean Lives, Good School Marks And Clean Sports

The 1923 Hustlers club is off to a flying start in the annual contest put on by the Y. M. C. A. boys' division. Every member is working to merit the title of supreme hustler for 1923. The contest lasts until April 21 and on Friday, April 27, every hustler will take part in a banquet and entertainment at which the prizes will be awarded.

The Hustler slogan is "clean speech, clean sports and clean habits." There are 42 varied activities in which points are awarded, divided so as to lead to the development of a boy mentally, physically, morally and socially.

Regular attendance at church and Sunday school and securing new members for each brings a goodly number of points. Good grades in school, reading assignments, books and attending lectures, taking part in the spring educational tours and making a written report of each trip are only a few of the many ways a boy can add to his score.

Regular gymnasium work, tests in gymnastic stunts, strokes, hikes, and clean health habits help to obtain points on the physical side, while Bible study and home duties add to the spiritual. Each hustler has a record card upon which is recorded his development as the contest progresses.

JOHN Phillips, who sings the part of Jean Grenicheux in the production of the Chimes of Normandy has taken part in many musical and dramatic events. He was a leading member of the Lawrence Men's Glee club last year and his singing won him many admirers in the cities visited on the annual tour. "Normandy" To Be Played First Time Tonight

The dress rehearsal for "Chimes of Normandy" took place on Tuesday evening to the satisfaction of those who have charge of the program, and everything is in readiness for the opening performance on Wednesday evening. Because of the large auditorium and because this is the first time that comic opera has been put on in Lawrence Memorial chapel, there are still plenty of good seats available.

The scenery which was made especially for the production showed off to splendid advantage in the final rehearsal. The members of the cast did splendid work on Tuesday evening and those who go on Wednesday evening need not fear that the first performance will be less interesting than the Thursday evening one.

The small symphony orchestra under the direction of Prof. Percy Fulwider, is expected to be one of the features of the evening. The singing of the chorus with the orchestra is done better than can be expected of amateurs. The entire production has been put on with only six weeks of intensive rehearsal. The chorus includes all the voices from both the men's and women's glee clubs of the college.

Mrs. Mary J. Jens has returned from Minneapolis after a two months' visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Vernicke. N. J. Ullman and Simon Schiff of Chicago, owners of the Continental Clothing store, were in Appleton Monday and Tuesday on their semi-annual inventory trip.

Children To Have Music Made Easy

Conservatory Students Will Write Studies Of Minneapolis Symphony Program

Students of Dr. Paul L. Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music will make studies of each number of the program and copies of these studies will be sent to all the schools.

Several of the numbers on the children's program are well known favorites, but there will be one or two numbers new to Appleton children. It is expected that there will be a great interest in this program because of the large number of children who took part in the music memory contest last year. Dr. Baker's students will include in their studies something concerning the composer and his history as well as the story of the music, its date of composition and publishing date.

THE LIFE OF A HOME

A healthy, happy, contented wife is the life and joy of the home and the greatest inspiration a man can have, yet how many homes in America are blighted by the ill-health and sufferings of the wife and mother. It may be backache, headaches, the tortures of a displacement or some other ailment peculiar to her sex, which makes her irritable, despondent, and her whole life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Is Winter Time Your Backache Time?
Does Your Back Foretell Every Change of the Weather?
Do You Feel Old and Stiff and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

ARE winter months your backache months? Does every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, achy and all worn out? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder, then, that every cold finds you suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

Don't wait! Delay may lead to serious or chronic kidney sickness. Realize that your kidneys have weakened in fighting the cold-created poisons and give them the help they need. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. Doan's have helped thousands at such times and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Appleton Folks:

ALBERT McALLISTER, retired farmer, 1025 Oneida, says: "I was bothered with backache, which kept getting worse all the time. When I stooped, I couldn't straighten up. Sharp pains bothered me constantly and made it hard for me to do anything. I had heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. In three days' time, the backache had disappeared and I could do my work as well as ever. I certainly can praise Doan's."

MARY DOWE, 819 State-st., says: "Backache always bothered me and I had a steady, dull hurt across my kidneys, which disturbed my rest at night. My kidneys acted too often and I got awful headaches and spells of dizziness. I would also be generally run down, but when I had an attack I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Voigt's Drug Store. They benefited my back and helped me in every way."

Difficult For Germany To Quit Politician And Follow Young Statesman

Process Of Overthrowing Prussian Ideas Is Painful One But Leaders Of Nation Look For Arrival Of New Day

A conflict is now going on in Germany that might be epitomized in the words of Aaron Sapiro, a California fruit grower, who made that branch of livelihood successful by cooperative marketing. Reaching a vital turn of the road he said: "We're through with politics and are going into business." Here is the great undertow that is felt in millions of hearts but has not yet been articulated in deeds. Germany is on the point of deciding whether she will follow the politician or the statesman. The politician says the state belongs to him and the statesman says he belongs to the state. Prussian Germany has emphasized the former; new Germany is going to emphasize the latter not only internally but internationally.

The chaos, confusion and conflict now existing in the German empire are the birthpangs of a new creation, a new political lineup based on proper commercial relationships. The question is up whether the politicians are to shape the economic life or whether politicians hitherto have darndest whether men of finance shall have the supremacy. It is my firm conviction that the latter are going to have the leadership in Germany for decades to come. It is impossible to believe that the world is retrograding. He who believes that let him (to use a street phrase) "go back and sit down." And if he refuses to sit down the "sitting down" process is he will be sat upon, that is all. Not comfortable. It was not during the war. It is not now. Change is always accompanied with pain and conflict. Burke, however, said that a state without the means of change is without the means of conservation. Europe is on the point of deciding whether she is ready for a change, to cast down the backstairs some old political idea and to welcome the twin brother, economics. It may take her some time to decide and she is anxious to have this country have a hand in it.

YOUNG MEN HOPEFUL

One of the refreshing things in Germany is to talk with the young German. He will tell you that the new republic is the product of youth, that it is the floodgates of new life, that it is the privilege of youth. It is always warning with the old. It is the result of inner convictions that come out of dire necessity. It must take form. And the form is coming through the economic door. This is forced on you everywhere in Germany.

But the old political lineup was formidable and is yet. It will pay to keep it in mind somewhat if one desires to understand the situation today. The cement that held the German empire together was a great idea. The state is everything. It was personified by the German emperor. The state is first, the individual comes last. When I was three times on the point of arrest I pleaded American citizenship where the individual is greater than the state. In Germany you were guilty until proven innocent. In America you are innocent until proven guilty. The one is old-time politics and the latter is Christian statesmanship.

It always seems a mystery to the writer why so many American people would stand up for "old Germany," for it is contrary to every political ideal we have here. During the war a parish priest came to a German and asked for his gold and jewels. The man refused to surrender them. "But you gave your son," replied the priest. "Yes," replied the father, "the son belongs to the emperor but my gold belongs to me." No, you never heard an American say that. When the state is first then it becomes an autocracy.

WILSON STRUCK BLOW

They tell you in Germany that former President Wilson did more to put a finish on old Germany than any other man. He struck the solar plexus of the old empire when he said: "We will not deal with the present government that was so staggering that Germany will reel 25 years before she will get over it, still drunk with power and an authority consecrated and hallowed by history but undermined and torn from its moorings; floundering like a ship in the storm, or, to change the metaphor, back to the cement idea disintegrated cement that had amalgamated the big empire."

And lest this sound uncharitable let me hurry at once to divide Germany into two parts. Draw a line from Breslau on the east to Frankfurt on the west. This gives you a north and a south Germany. North Germany accepted civilization and Christianity 500 years before south Germany. All great poets, prophets, humanists, philosophers, religious leaders and musicians came from south of this line. We need only recall Mozart, Beethoven, Liszt, Heine, Fichte, Schopenhauer, Gerok and many others. North Germany produced one outstanding man, Bismarck, and he was a militarist. North Germany fostered one idea and that was the supremacy of the state and inoculated all of Germany with this idea by vaccinating every soldier with it for real Germany hate war as much as we do. Every move made by north Germany aimed to bolster this idea: her whole industrial, political and agricultural resources were bent toward that purpose, even the educational and religious institutions were infected by it.

BISMARCK FORESAW

But Bismarck, often maligned in this day, was not at fault entirely in producing the modern colossus. Nor was the crown prince. Democratizing ideas were at work even among the men. Bismarck contended that Germany had gained everything she ever could by force. He went farther. He said that the next war the Germans would win would have to be followed

German government has no means and money. Her stock in trade is a lot of paper and printing presses and the issue of marks is now above a trillion. Some young Germans ask, how can the world have confidence in such a government, that swindles its own people, not to speak of the millions who have received from thousands of Americans for bogus-mark values that can never be liquidated. This is the backwash of the old regime that gambled from the time the military leaders threw their dice to invade Belgium. The spirit is wilder than even now rampant as a destructive disease eating out the economic vitals of the empire, to the hardening of economic arteries and a slow strangling process with the German profiteers sitting tight on their gold on foreign soil.

This is one reason why Washington authorities are going slow, for the German profiteers are just greedy enough to want Americans to make a big boom it will only entrench them stronger than ever. This then is the economic scourge, the financial germ that is affecting the Germanic people. The question asked the writer repeatedly was: What must Germany do to get the confidence of the American people. It is the young German asking this; not the old German, and that does not apply to the age of quantity of years but quality of years, for men along in years are asking it but have their ears to the ground to pulse beat of the dawning of a new day.

Naturally new Germany frightens the oldtimers. It reminds me of some recruits that were brought into the army under Wellington's command. He observed them for some time and then turned to one of the generals and said: "I do not know what effect these soldiers will have on the enemy but by God they frighten me." Some of my oldtime friends are frightened at what young Germany is doing. It really is amusing.

You should see the cubist art as now expressed in some of the modern buildings, painted blue, mind you, and with all the riot of colors you can imagine. The railroad depot in Stuttgart just finished this last fall looks like a barn. You would never dream that a people could run to such an extreme. It's just like the boy who bought a new pair of pants and only the ridicule of his playmates for weeks cured him, for he's parents protested at the choice but he had to have them.

This is just a fair example of what is going on along all lines. We have already alluded to the wild revolutionary movement even with some of the paper for a foundation when old Germany was always so intense on her integrity. But the older men assured me that it has its good side. First of all, they all felt better by fasting and not eating so much. Rheumatism and gout had disappeared from whole sections of people and though thousands are dying because of undernourishment, yet those who had not were not the gluttons they once were.

RAISES NEW HEADS

Again the new Germany was raising up a lot of self-reliant young men, men who got initiative and were not patterning after someone else. No wonder their patterns of houses and public places are so crude. A German philosopher said that all Germans were born great but they all died copies. New Germany will see that this is not the case for the Prussian germ of fossilizing every individual has been given a black eye and the personality of a man will come to the fore.

Men everywhere feel the tug of a new day despite the tragic uncertainty. True they are sitting by the waters of Babel and are weeping because they cannot sing the songs of the old Zion. Some still try to do that and it is perfectly natural for the old hey days were comfortable days. We always admired German precision; their respect for authority, even though we often noticed that when the young kiddies had gone through the stunt of checking their heels and bowing, when the backs of their sun-colored uniforms were turned they would stick out their tongues at them. We here would rather have less formality but more respect at heart of our younger generation, which is anything but polite and courteous half the time.

Naturally many want the old political system back because it gave them certain comforts; it gave industrial

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Says Indigestion Results From An Excess Of Hydrochloric Acid

"Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air," says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten, soured in the stomach much like rancid soups in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch up gas; we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.

CHURCH WOMEN IN PROTEST AGAINST FRENCH INVASION

Black Creek Society Asks U. S. To See That German People Get Needed Coal

Cessation of exportation of German coal to France until German homes and institutions are supplied, is demanded in a resolution passed at a meeting of the Ladies Aid society of St. John Evangelical church of Black Creek.

The ladies demand also that the United States protest against the occupation by France of the Ruhr district, and that this country use its influence in seeing that the German people are given a chance to support themselves.

"We women of America are tired of paying the interest on the capital which we loaned the allies."

SEIZED MILK

"We are tired of supplying the children and the sick of Germany with milk which is seized by the allies."

"We are tired of sending funds and clothes to a people that is able to take care of itself if the allies will not deprive them of a chance to do so."

"We are tired of seeing German charitable institutions, asylums, hospitals, etc., without the necessary fuel supplies while millions of tons of coal are demanded by France, where no shortage of coal exists. Therefore, we demand—"

My Perennial Beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have the face and complexion of a girl of 19, as millions of women know. A youthful bloom which is the envy of countless debutantes.

Yet for 31 years I have been, as you know, a musical comedy star. Tens of thousands of women have asked me to tell them how I kept this girlish beauty. Now I am doing that, as a duty to woman-kind. And I have arranged to supply, to women who wish, the ideal facial helps that I use.

First—Youth Clay

My supreme help is a facial clay. Not the crude and muddy complexion clays so many use today. Mine is a white, refined clay, perfected by scientists who have spent 20 years in the study of facial clays.

French beauty experts, many years ago, taught me what clays could do. Then few women used them, and those who became the marvels of whole nations for their wonderful complexions.

Now countless women use them. Rosy, clear complexions are seen everywhere today. Most women know that clay applications are essential to beauty at its best. A woman who omits them does herself injustice.

Now refined clay

But ordinary facial clay gives

Rush For Admissions Anticipated When Noted Baritone Comes Next Week

The concert by Louis Graveure at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Monday evening is one of the most expensive on the Community Lecture and Artist Series program. Indications are that there will be a large sale of admissions for this number besides the regular season tickets.

Mr. Graveure has had a most unusual career as a singer and is now rated as one of the best concert baritones in this country. He spends most of his time touring the country for concerts, but his New York appearances are considered among the best musical attractions of the metropolis. Those who have heard Mr. Graveure are lavish in their praise of his voice and his choice of program.

'Y' ADDITION MAY BE BUILT IN SPRING

Amount Of Revised Bids On Structure Will Determine Course Taken

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. instructed the building committee at a meeting Saturday to obtain bids on the proposed dormitory addition, to learn what it can be built for if the work is undertaken this spring. As soon as the bids are submitted a special meeting of the directors will be called to decide upon the course to be pursued.

A financial report for the short year, May 1 to Dec. 31, 1922, was submitted by the general secretary which showed the year was closed without a deficit. The budget submitted for the coming year was adopted.

The state Y. M. C. A. convention at Racine Jan. 27 and 28 came up for consideration. The local institution is entitled to eight delegates and the indications are they will be accompanied by a large number of visiting members.

Securing of appropriate pictures for the newly decorated walls of the building was discussed. Several persons already have donated pictures and the institution is in the field for additional donations along this line. The general secretary will be glad to suggest the kind of pictures needed.

County Boards Favor Highway Law Changes

Legislative Program Proposed By County Boards Association Approved With Exception Of Appointing Commissioner

Madison—The vote of the county boards of the state at their annual meetings in November was overwhelmingly in favor of the recommendations of the legislative committee of the Wisconsin County Boards association regarding the future highway program and its financing. All of the recommendations but one were approved by big majorities.

The vote in favor of the recommendation for a graduate license fee based on weight, instead of the present flat rate of $10 was: In favor of the graduated license fee, 54 county boards; against, 10 county boards. Individual vote of boards: Favoring graduated fee, 1,481 votes. Against, 288.

FAVOR VALUATION TAX
On the question of elimination of the present personal property tax on motor vehicles and the substitution thereof of a 2 per cent tax on the value of these vehicles to be paid to the state, the vote was: For valuation tax, 56 county boards; against valuation tax, 7 county boards. The individual vote of the boards was: For valuation tax, 1,428. Against, 287.

In the matter of the proposed 2-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline, the vote was: In favor of tax, 88 county boards; against, 6 county boards. Individual vote of the boards: In favor of tax, 1,505. Against, 233.

On the resolution favoring the addition of 2,500 miles to the present state trunk highway system, the vote was 54 counties favoring it, and 10 counties against it. The individual vote was 1,481 in favor and 288 against.

SHOULD SAVE U. S. AID
The county boards favored the resolution providing that the state should make available funds to meet and save the federal aid, 62 counties voting in favor of it, and 2 counties against it. The individual vote was 1,650 in favor, and 105 against.

On the resolution providing for the elimination of the counties from contributing one-third of the share of federal aid construction so that these roads hereafter would be built wholly with federal and state funds, the vote was: In favor of resolution, 61 counties; against resolution, 3 counties. The individual vote was, 1,647 in favor, and 118 against.

FAVOR NEW DIVISION
On the question of a change in the method of the distribution of joint federal and state funds for state trunk highway construction, eliminating the present method of distributing these funds on a county basis in favor of some method which would result in the more rapid development of the principal lines of travel, the vote was: 53 counties in favor; 11 against. The individual vote: 1,424 votes for, and 343 against.

On the recommendation of the legislative committee that some form of a refund in the form of a maintenance bonus by the state to the counties which have bonded and pushed the construction of high class roads or which will do so in the future, the vote was 49 counties for, and 14 counties against. The individual vote was: 1,391 for, and 334 against.

In the matter of the recommendation of a longer term for members of the county road and bridge committee the vote was 44 counties favoring it, and 10 against. The individual

H. S. SENIORS WANT UNION SCHOOL PLAN

That a majority of seniors at Appleton high school are in favor of the union system rather than the present district system was brought out in the classes in democracy at the high school in which the subject was debated. A vote taken at the end of the discussion showed 64 students for the union system and 10 for the district.

How the school board is to be chosen proved the stumbling block in the discussion. Few students agreed as to the number on the board, some wanting as many as 12 and others as few as 4. The students desire in some cases that the boards be elected from the city at large with no reference to the wards in which they live. Others want the board elected with representatives from each ward, and still others want a combination of ward representatives and others elected at large. On the whole with out the variations, the vote seemed to indicate that 25 want the delegates elected from the city at large and 39 want the delegates elected from the wards.

vote was, 1,168 in favor, and 609 against.

One recommendation of the legislative committee was voted down, that providing for a change in the law to give the state the power of approval in the selection of county highway commissioners. The vote on this resolution was: Favoring it, 27 counties; against it, 37. The individual vote was: 728 members voting in favor of it, and 971 against.

CHINATOWN WELCOMES CONSTANCE TALMADGE

The Feast of a Thousand Lanterns!

All San Francisco's Chinatown turned out in amazing splendor of which it is capable when an occasion presents itself that is worthy of such a brilliant spectacle.

Those symbolic processions have decreased in number until they have come to be catalogued with San Francisco's past glories rather than her present ones, but the spark of festival, which burns so colorfully beneath the Chinaman's drab, everyday exterior, was rekindled when it was made known that Constance Talmadge, star of "East is West," the First National attraction which is now playing at the Elite theatre, was to spend a week there "on location."

Under the direction of Sidney Franklin, work on the picture took them to San Francisco and when the star and company arrived for the filming of the street scenes, they found an impromptu reception committee waiting for them at the Ferry Building, and processions and feasts that lasted into the wee sma' hours.

There was a gift party to Miss Constance and the members of her company, from which she emerged looking and feeling like a Christmas tree. Then in the costume and character of Ming Toy, she became the central figure of a historic pageant, among dragons, symbolic boats carried on men's shoulders, grotesque images, and lanterns everywhere, "steering" from her swaying sedan, she might have been a princess from the Imperial City.

This was followed by a feast at the home of one of Chinatown's elite, where Constance wielded her ivory

SCOUT FIREMEN SEEKING CITY'S FIRE HAZARDS

Members of the boy scout fire squad are making their quarterly fire hazard inspections in the city. The squad is composed of representatives from the troops and each group has a certain district to inspect.

The squad was called together last week to receive instructions. Chief George P. McGillan gave a demonstration of some of the apparatus of the fire department.

The boys will work on their inspections until the entire city has been covered. Where fire hazardous conditions are found in yards and basements the attention of the owners of the property will be called to the danger.

THE POWER OF A LIE

A brilliant foreign writer, Johann Bojer of Norway, conceived the terrific theme of "The Power of a Lie," the Universal all star film play which will show at the Majestic Theatre starting today.

Bojer, recognized as a writer who never wastes words on trivialities, struck a keynote common to all humanity in "The Power of a Lie." The story is said to be exactly what the title indicates, a scathing denunciation of deceit, and particularly of those "white lies of occasion" that many people tell without realizing their awful harm. It pictures the dramatic and tragic consequences growing out of one lie that apparently had no importance when it was first spoken but which made it necessary to tell more lies, and more and more as time went on.

Such a story, not adventure, not "society stuff," not any of the things commonly associated with the themes of the screen, is out of the ordinary classifications of screen literature and bound to make itself a separate classification, for it belongs with no typical group.

FARM BUREAU WILL MEET IN MADISON

Rural Business Plans Will Be Presented At Gatherings Jan. 31, Feb. 1

The program of the third annual convention of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation on Jan. 31, and Feb. 1, to be held in connection with farmers week at Madison, has been announced by I. M. Wright, secretary.

H. C. McKenzie of Walton, N. Y., specialist on taxation, will discuss the relation of taxation to agriculture on Feb. 1. P. M. Simpson, general manager of the Livestock Producers association of Chicago, will explain the general plan under which the Producers Livestock Commission associations are operating.

The secretaries of the county farm bureaus also will hold meetings during the convention, and meetings of the executive committee of the state federation and of the potato marketing committee also will be held.

The women of the farm bureau have arranged for an address by Mrs. Jacob Silberg of Nevada, Iowa. She will speak at the home and community in connection with the women's short course.

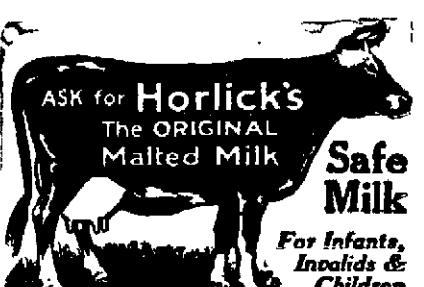

The convention also will be addressed by President George McKerrrow and E. P. Taylor. Election of officers will be held, and reports of chairmen of the work of the committees on credentials, legislation, budget, constitution, resolutions and special committees will be heard.

WEEKLY PAPER FOR H. S. IS PROPOSED

Seniors Argue Frequent Publication Is Better Than Monthly Arrangement

That 65 out of 76 seniors at Appleton high school are in favor of a newspaper rather than a monthly magazine is the result of a discussion on the subject in the democracy classes of Appleton high school. The discussion was a part of the study of high school curricula and a debate on the subject of types of publications took place.

Some informal discussion of the establishment of a newspaper at the local school has taken place. Although the vote of the seniors will have no direct bearing on the possibility of change of type of paper, it is taken by those who favor the weekly paper as indication of the student opinion. It is probable that if a weekly paper is established it will be in connection with a class in your history. The students in the democracy classes indicated they would favor the establishment of some journalistic instruction in the school.

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Open Schools
To Teach Ways
Of Politicians

BY MARIAN HALE

To rid women of their "inferiority complex" is the first step in preparing them for political life, according to Mrs. Halsey W. Wilson, director of the National School of Democracy, which will hold sessions in New York for women voters from Jan. 23 to Feb. 3.

"We begin," says Mrs. Wilson, "by demonstrating to the woman engaged in developing a political consciousness that she has light under the scriptural bushel, in the form of valuable ideas and convictions."

"Next we help her to shape the material she possesses for orderly speeches and campaign work."

"Then look for results."

The National School of Democracy is the outgrowth of 17 similar local schools held in 11 states throughout the country, just before the last election, by women of the Democratic party. Its courses have been extended to national scope for women interested in the next presidential campaign.

"What," asks Mrs. Wilson, "have women gained from housekeeping routine that fits them for political positions?"

"Answer: Mastery of detail, thrift, patience, endurance, dispatch, system, clean-up methods."

"What have they gained from their clubs?"

"Better education, team work, understanding of human needs, organization, leadership."

"All of these qualities are needed in political life. They will enable women to make important constructive contributions toward liberalizing and humanizing tendencies."

"Basically, women are sound. They are right in matters of human conduct and standards."

Gotham Debs
Excited Over
Real Sheik

BY MARGARET ROHE

Of Edward Bing
I herewith sing,
At being sheik.
He's had a fling.
Likewise a boy
And everything.
A champion
In boxing ring.
He swung indeed
A wicked wing.
His life's been just
One "bing, bing, bing."

New York—Oh, Rudolf Valentino, you must be your laurels long, for there's a real sheik just come to town. He's pink and white, unmarried and he's only 28, and he's done lots of things to win renown.

His name is Dr. Edward Bing, the doctor part, you see, means neither church nor medicine at all. It was acquired at Oxford, where he took philosophy and that is where he gets the doctor call. In common law, while he was there, he graduated, too. He also took a special research course. He speaks just seven languages, with smatterings of more and yet for knowledge lack he feels remorse.

By birth he is Hungarian, was born at Budapest, but on his father's side he's Scotch descent. Of Austrian and English blood, his mother's forebears were, and so when war came he was sadly rent. He didn't want to fight against his closest friends, and so he packed his kit and toward the east he steered, and then, because he likes the Turks, he cast his lot with them, and in the Turkish army volunteered.

With Kemal Pasha's army he was captain and he fought in Palestine, Gallipoli, as well. The Turkish government in recognition of his deeds made him a bey—a Turkish title—well.

It happened as an officer of liaison between the Turkish army and a sub-tribe small, of that big tribe of Bedouins, Anesir, it is named, young Bing did splendid service for them all and so the grateful Bedouins made him a chief of clan, with 50 tents or families' worth his sway. So he's a sheik (pronounced like "heck"). We've always called it wrong. To rhyme with shriek is not the proper way.

A champion of boxing, too, I quite forgot to say, of middleweights for Hungary was he. Before the war this happened and, of course, he's plumper now. Perhaps from eating Turkish paste too free.

And now Bing Bey, the noble sheik and doctor, erudite, to New York town has come, about to look. I'm sure fair hearts will flutter when they learn a sheik is here. They're bound to just adore his latest book. He's written it on Turkey—on the Turkey of today. There's no one knows the subject more than he. On hours and harems and Circassian flappers, too, young Dr. Bing is an authority.

He tells of Turkish woman—her emancipation now from slavish state of several years ago. The harems almost obsolete, the veils are being shed, and lots of things most interesting to know; of politics and private life, religion, war and love. The present sultan wrote the preface, too. But when the book is published I am wondering what neat this energetic Bing will up and do.

'Thysanthemums measuring as much as 12 inches across and others no larger than a dime were displayed recently at a London flower show.

"ASSEMBLED" FROCKS

COPYRIGHT BY M. CALLE

Women these days no longer make their frocks. They only assemble the parts.

Remember all the work that used to go into a new dress—taggoting, buttonhole stitching, blanket stitching, scalloping, solid and outline embroidery—hundreds of other things. Gone, all gone!

Now the best and most exclusive shops send out evening and afternoon gowns with no hems except the selvage. Salvage! That used to be hidden like a family skeleton.

The clever woman of today has seams hemstitched together, arms, cuffs and hems plicated. If she likes embroidery, she buys all-over embroidered fabrics. Her deep bertha collar or trim collars and cuffs come already made. Ready silk underbusts are to be bought as foundations for her frocks. Even hoods, eyes and buttonholes come ready to be tacked in.

Quantity productions the thing.

Here Are More
Helps To Ease
Up Daily Work

Salad oil added to putty prevents it from hardening or cracking.

Turn a new paint-brush bristles up, open, pour in a spoonful of good varnish and keep in that position until dry. You will find that the bristles will never shed in painting.

When punching a new hole in a sewing machine belt, heat a hatpin very hot and it will penetrate the leather like magic.

To remove a stamp from an envelope, cut a piece of blotter the size of the stamp, soak it in water and put it on the stamp. Remove the blotter in a few minutes and the stamp will come off.

In shipping flowers a long distance, put the stems in raw potatoes. Several flowers can be put in one potato. The juice of the potato keeps them fresh.

To keep linoleum looking like new, wipe it off with sweet milk. It preserves the surface and keeps it bright.

When bathing a baby in a porcelain tub lay a Turkish bath-towel on the bottom of the tub to prevent the child from slipping.

Does the tone of your piano ever seem dull in damp weather? Try placing a lump of lime in a break-fast-food box inside the lower part, and see how soon it makes the tone clearer.

When knitting double mittens, using two threads, try using one ball of common wrapping twine instead of two woolen ones. It is cheaper, wears longer, and the men say the mittens are better for having the cotton in them as it keeps the wind out where all wool will not.

For hands that chap easily, take common table salt, dampen and rub your hands thoroughly after they have been in water. This is very healing.

When your bedspread has become wrinkled, take a stiff whisk-broom and brush over the spread. The fresh appearance it gives to the spread, removing all wrinkles, will surprise you.

To polish copper, brass or zinc use vinegar and salt. Apply with a soft cloth and polish with a dry woolen cloth.—From the January Designer.

Adventures Of
The Twins

Twins Recover Automobile

Along the Milky Way came Light Fingers in the Fairy Queen's automobile. He had stolen it, you know, and was taking a ride.

He was very happy and was singing this song:

"A dicky bird sat on a juniper tree.
Tum dum, to tum dum, to tum dum.
But he never could be quite as happy as me.

Oh, tum dum, to tum dum, to tum dum!

So I called up to him, "Little birdie, I cried.

"If you'll come right along I will give you a ride."

"Thank you, sire, wings were made before wheels," he replied.

Tum dum, to tum dum, to tum dum!

It wasn't a wonderful song, but it showed Light Fingers was happy, whizzing along the Milky Way so smoothly 'n' all.

Nancy and Nick were hiding behind the Dreamland Tree, just as Pons Meena, the Magician, had told them to do.

Nick had the toad-skin bag Eena Meena had given him and in it was a smookey dream about a railroad train.

Well, just before Light Fingers reached the Dreamland Tree Nick climbed it. Then he untied the string and out puffed the dream in a cloud.

It went straight down toward Light Fingers and he breathed it in and it made him sleepy. He sang more and more slowly "tum-dum, to tum dum—to-tum-dum!"

His head went over finally and he started to snore.

All at once the dream started to work. Light Fingers thought he saw a great freight train in front of him. He thought the Fairy Queen's automobile was going to run smash bang right into it. With a loud yell he jumped out, and what do you think?

He jumped to far he rolled off the Milky Way and came crashing to earth.

The Twins got the automobile as it slowed down to receive them.

Said Can't Be Done

"My experience with doctors and medicines caused me to lose faith in both, and when a friend told me that May's Wonderful Remedy would cure my stomach trouble I told him 'it can't be done.' However, he finally persuaded me to try it and to my surprise it did. All symptoms of acute indigestion and gas having disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. OYSTER PATTIES

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

For the shells roll the chilled puff paste to 1/4 inch thick. Cut with a round cutter. About 1/2 inch from edge cut partly through the paste with a small cutter. Chill, then bake 25 minutes, at first in a very hot oven (500 F.) and then reduce, but not below 400 degrees. When baked, take out the soft inside after the small top has been removed.

Fill with oysters bechamel:
40 oysters, washed and parboiled for 5 to 10 minutes
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 1/2 cups oyster liquor
1/2 cup cream

After parboiling oysters until their edges curl, strain them and reserve liquor. Melt butter and add flour, seasonings and oyster liquor. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Then add cream and oysters and bring to boiling point. Season more to taste and add two slightly beaten yolks of eggs if desired, but this is not necessary. Fill patty shells.

People Will Judge You By Your Manners

(From Vogue.)

Don't, if walking, pass directly in front of an oncoming person. Look ahead a little. It is not polite to be so absorbed in one's own concerns that one is oblivious to other people's convenience. Don't talk or laugh loudly in the street or in public places. Don't straggle along in a line or group which some unfortunately hurried pedestrian cannot get past. Don't loiter before shopwindows, making a conspicuous, even if charming, effect. This, in foreign cities particularly, is likely to attract the kind of attention which ladies find unpleasant. Don't, if of the stronger sex, get into any conveyance while still nursing in the hand a lighted and smoke-trailing cigar to the discomfort of other passengers and in defiance of rules.

Don't, even in these days, smoke when walking with a feminine acquaintance in streets of the more formal character. But at ceremonial hours of the day, and in ceremonious clothes, it would look unsuitable. A man of breeding throws away his cigar or cigarette if he meets and turns to walk in such thoroughfares with a woman whom he does not know very intimately, whereas he might quite permissibly ask to smoke if strolling through less frequented ways with one of whose sympathy in the matter he was assured. There is nothing to be afraid of but the assumption of casual manners at a time and in a locality, where they would be out of place, and this may easily be avoided by the ordinarily intelligent. If there is nothing, either inside or out, to guide them, they can always ask. A person who wishes to do the right thing because it is the considerate thing and not because he or she wishes to be thought smarter than they are, will never be ashamed to ask and will always find an answer.

GOOD MANNERS

Sometimes important work or an appointment makes it practically impossible to entertain a chance caller.

But a visitor having once been told that the house's mistress is in, almost nothing can justify the latter's failure to see the guest for at least a moment. She may explain matters and excuse herself after extending a greeting, but she must not send a message by another.

Her presence is required, if for no other reason than to make the situation clear to the caller.

"I can't go on with college," he said, swallowing.

"And why not?"

"I want to—earn my living," answered the boy with a glance of defiance.

Read the figures and note the growth

In January 1919 the combined net paid circulation of the Daily Post and Evening Crescent was

7,266

(This included approximately 1000 duplications - subscribers who took both papers)

In February, 1920 the net paid circulation of The Post-Crescent was approximately

7,200

(This was after the consolidation of the two newspapers and duplicated circulation had been eliminated)

In January, 1921 the net paid daily average circulation was

In January, 1922 the average paid circulation was

9,381

In January, 1923 the circulation of The Post-Crescent will show a substantial average above

The Post-Crescent passed the 10,000 mark in October, 1922.

THE Post-Crescent now has 40% more circulation than the combined circulation of the Daily Post and the Evening Crescent at their highest points. No other newspaper in the State of Wisconsin has shown such an increase in the past three years. It is little short of phenomenal but there is a reason. The policy of The Post-Crescent has been to give its readers the best possible newspaper within its power. The growth of circulation is the one big, indisputable result that reflects the appreciation of our policy.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by Rafael Sabatini

© RAFAEL SABATINI
ADAPT. NEA SERVICE

Wolterstone had seen his six fellows drop overboard after the rapids were fixed, and then had sped himself, to the starboard gunwale. There he flung his flaming torch down the nearest scuttle into the hold and thereupon dived overboard in his turn, to be picked up presently by the longboat from the Arabela. But before that happened the ship was a thing of fire, from which explosions were hurling blazing combustibles aboard the Encarnacion.

And whilst the most formidable vessel of the Spanish fleet was thus being put out of action at the outset, Blood had sailed in to open fire upon the Salvador. Leaving her half crippled, and keeping to his course, he had bewildered the crew of the Infanta by a couple of shots from the chase on his deck, and then crawled alongside to grapple and board her, whilst Hargreaves was doing the like by the San Felipe.

And in all this time not a single shot had the Spaniards contrived to fire.

Boarded now and faced by the cold steel of the buccaners, neither the San Felipe nor the Infanta offered much resistance.

Don Miguel, who, with a remnant of his crew, had meanwhile transferred himself to the Salvador, headed her down toward Palomas and the fort that guarded the passage. This fort the Admiral, in those days of waiting, had taken the precaution secretly to garrison and rearm. For the purpose he had stripped the fort of Cojoro, farther out on the gulf, of its entire armament.

With no suspicion of this, Captain Blood gave chase, accompanied by the Infanta, which was manned now by a prize crew under the command of Yerville. The stern canons of the Salvador desultorily returned the punishing fire of the pursuers; but such was the damage she, herself, sustained, that presently, coming under the guns of the fort, she began to sink and finally settled down in the shallows with part of her hull above water. Thence, some in boats, and some by swimming, the Admiral got his crew ashore on Palomas as best he could.

And then, just as Captain Blood accounted the victory won, the fort suddenly revealed its formidable and utterly unsuspected strength. With a roar the cannons roared proclaimed themselves, and the Arabela staggered under a blow that smashed her bulwarks at the waist.

Meanwhile it had fared even worse with the frailer Infanta. Although hit by one shot only, this had crushed her larboard timbers on the waterline.

Out of range, at last, they lay, joined by the Elizabeth and the San Felipe, to consider their position.

CHAPTER XVII

The Dupes

It was a restless Captain Blood, who presided over that hastily summoned council held on the poopdeck of the Arabela in the brilliant morning sunshine.

He was compelled to admit that nothing remained but to return to Maracaybo, there to refit the ships before attempting to force the passage.

And so, back to Maracaybo came those defeated victors of that short, terrible fight.

Captain Blood went to give his surgeon's skill to the wounded, among whom he remained engaged until late afternoon. Then he returned to the house of the Governor, to make a very scholarly letter in purest Castilian to Don Miguel.

"I have shown your excellency this morning of what I am capable," he wrote. "Although outnumbered by more than two to one in men, in ships, and in guns, I have sunk or captured the vessels of the great fleet with which you were to come to Maracaybo to destroy us. I should not trouble your excellency with this letter but that I am a humane man abhorring bloodshed. Therefore before proceeding to deal with your fort, as I have dealt already with your fleet, I make you, purely out of humanitarian considerations, this last offer of terms. I will spare this city of Maracaybo and forthwith evacuate it, leaving behind me the forty prisoners I have taken in consideration of your paying me the sum of fifty thousand pieces of eight and one hundred head of cattle as ransom, thereafter granting me unmolested passage of the bay. If your excellency should be so ill-advised as to refuse the term, I warn you that you may expect no quarter from us."

The letter written, he bade them bring him from among the prisoners the Deputy-Governor of Maracaybo.

who had been taken at Gibraltar. Discarding its contents to him, he dispatched him with it to Don Miguel.

His choice of a messenger was shrewd. The Deputy-Governor was of all men the most anxious for the deliverance of his city.

And as he reckoned so it befell. The Deputy-Governor added his own passionate pleading to the proposals of the letter.

But Don Miguel was of stouter heart. Let Captain Blood do his worst at Maracaybo, there should be a bitter reckoning for him when eventually he decided—as, sooner or later, decide he must—to come forth. So back to Maracaybo, back to his own handsome house in which Captain Blood had established his quarters, came the Deputy-Governor to leave the Admiral's answer.

No sooner had he departed than up leapt Calusac, who had been of the council assembled to receive the Admiral's answer.

"Your fool letter it have seal' the doom of us all," said he. "Have ye done?" quoth Blood quietly, as the Frenchman paused for breath.

"I was hoping you'd have some ideas yourself. But since ye're so desperately concerned to save your skin, you and those that think like you are welcome to leave us. Ye shall have the sloop as a parting gift from us."

"It is to my men to decide," Calusac retorted, swallowing his fury, and on that stalked out to talk to them, leaving the others to deliberate in peace.

Next morning early he sought Captain Blood again.

"We have taken" you at your word, Captain," he announced, between suileness and defiance. Calusac explained. "Last night I sent one of my men to the Spanish Admiral with a letter. I make him offer to capitulate if he will accord us passage with the honors of war. This morning I receive his answer. He accord us this on the understanding that we carry nothing away with us. We sail at once."

"Don voyage," said Captain Blood, and with a nod he turned on his heel again to resume his interrupted meditation.

Calusac flung away. Before noon he was under way with his followers, some sixty dejected men who had allowed themselves to be persuaded by him into that empty-headed departure.

Meanwhile no sooner had the deserters weighted anchor than Captain Blood received word that the Deputy-Governor begged to be allowed to see him again.

Captain Blood received him pleasantly.

Don Francisco, a slight, nervous, elderly man of high lineage and low vitality, came straight to business. "I am here to tell you, Don Pedro, that if you will hold your hand for three days, I will undertake to raise the ransom you demand, which Don Miguel de Espinosa refuses."

Punctuated on the third day the Deputy-Governor was back in Maracaybo with his mules laden with plate and money to the value demanded and a herd of a hundred head of cattle driven in by negro slaves.

These bullocks were handed over to those of the company who ordinarily were buccan hunters, and therefore skilled in the curing of meats and for the best part of a week thereafter they were busy at the waterside with the quartering and salting of carcases.

While this was going on the one hand and the ships were being refitted for sea on the other, Captain Blood was pondering the riddle on the solution of which his own fate depended.

Since for the last twenty-four hours all had been in readiness for departure, there was nothing now to delay them, and it was decided to move the next morning.

Such was Captain Blood's assurance of success that he immediately freed the prisoners held as hostages. His only precaution against those released prisoners was to order them into the church and there lock them up, to await deliverance at the hands of those who should presently be coming into the city.

Then, all being aboard the three ships, with the treasure safely stowed in their holds, the buccaners weighted anchor and stood out for the bay, each vessel towing three piraguas astern.

— LOST — (A Wonderful Girl)

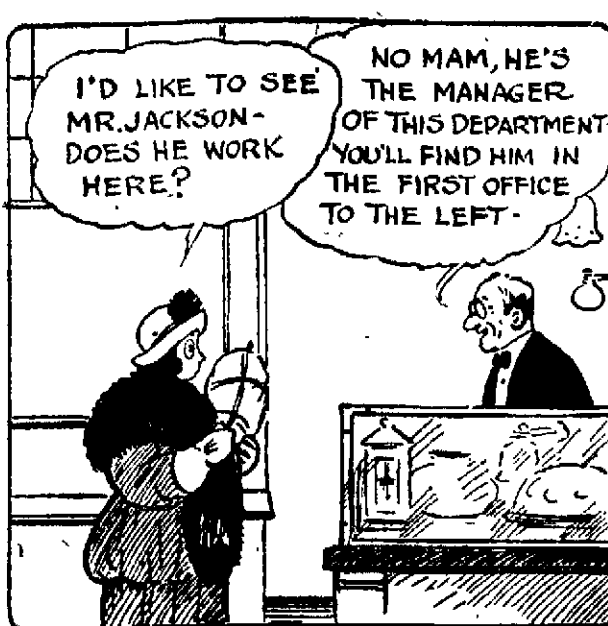

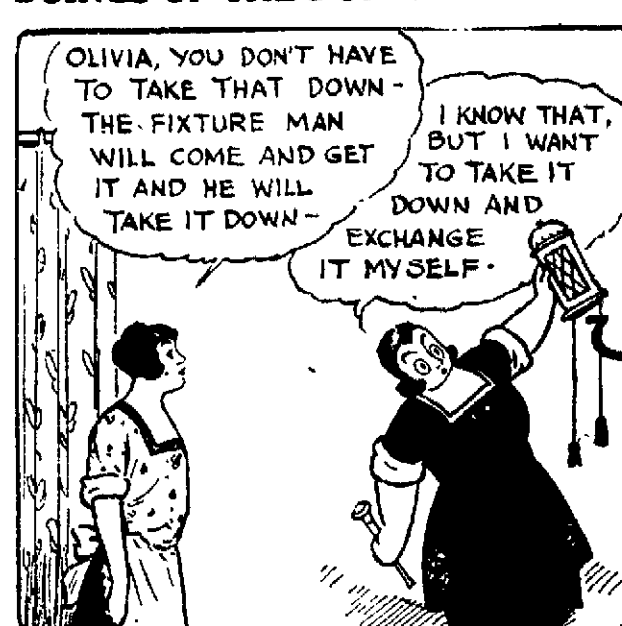

Nellie Kelly I Love You

Brunswick Record No. 2364 — 75c

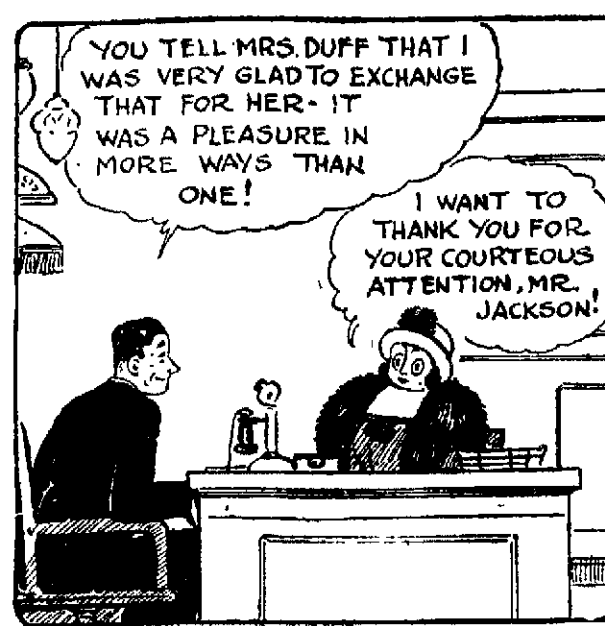

"Lost" is a winning song for a baritone, and Ernest Hare never fails to convey the heart of any ballad he records. Both his voice and the violin, with its pretty lull, are crystal clear and the diction is remarkable. "Nellie Kelly I Love You," from the sparkling musical comedy, "Little Nellie Kelly" by George M. Cohan, is a lilting Irish waltz-song as charming as it is simple. William Reese and the White Way Male Quartet sing it well, with absolute balance and ensemble.

SKATERS APPROVE PLAN TO COMBINE PRELIM CONTESTS

Gold Medals For Race Winners Also Meets With Ap- probation

The announcement Tuesday that medals are to be given to the winners in the first annual city skating tournament and that the preliminaries are to be held together in Jones park next Sunday afternoon met with quite general approval on the part of all the skaters entered in the event. The program Sunday afternoon will consist of 15 events, with a large number of entries. It is believed that a program of exceptional interest will be offered.

Names of the skaters who are to compete in the races will be announced on Thursday. The list will include all skaters in the contest who are entered in events in which four or more races will compete. If there are three or less entered in any event it will not be necessary to hold an elimination tournament inasmuch as the entrants are automatically eligible to skate.

H. D. McChesney, director of athletics at Lawrence college will be in immediate charge of the races. He will be assisted by a group of officials who will see that the events follow each other in rapid succession. Every possible precaution will be taken to have the rink in splendid shape for the affair.

Because of the length of the program it will be necessary to start promptly at 1 o'clock. Spectators are invited to be on hand early but they will not be permitted to congregate on Lawrence street bridge which is not strong enough to hold up a large crowd.

CARP WILL SUE BATTILING SIKI

Paris—Troubles, troubles, all I have is troubles," bawling Siki, titleless champion of Europe, might be chanting on Tuesday. Following the announcement of the French boxing federation that nothing could be discovered to support the statement of Siki that the Carpentier-Siki fight had been fixed, Georges and his manager said they would sue to clear their fair names.

VIRGINIA GETS NEALE AS FOOTBALL COACH

Charlottesville, Va.—Earl Neale will coach football and baseball at the University of Virginia during the term of 1923-24, according to an announcement made here on Tuesday by Dr. John H. Neale.

Neale began his career as a coach with Muskogee college in 1915. He coached West Virginia Wesleyan in 1916 and 1917 and was with Marietta college during the two following seasons. In 1921 he piloted the undefeated Washington and Jefferson squad.

BROTHERHOOD READY FOR BAY BOWLERS

The Brotherhood bowlers of the First English Lutheran church are ready for their match with the Grace Lutheran Brotherhood bowlers of Green Bay, which will be held on the Eagle alleys beginning 7:45 Thursday evening.

Green Bay will invade Appleton with a host of rosters. Beaten twice last year, Green Bay turned tables in the match at the Bay early this season. The visitors will make an effort to even scores.

The First English Lutheran Brotherhood will entertain the visitors after the match.

The following Appleton bowlers, first ten leading men in the league, have been selected to play with the Green Bay quintet: Ed Kruger, 159 average; Walter Wenzel, 186; the Rev. F. C. Reuter, 184; Gus Lemke, 158; Orson Krausz, 158; Charles Huseman, 155; Elmer Kling, 154; Alfred Gauerke, 151; Howard Heinrich, 149; and Frank Schmiede, 145. The average are for 30 games. Total pins will decide the match.

The entertainment committee is composed of Carl Grien, Frank Schmiede, Walter Wenzel and William Block.

GERMAN BOXERS TO MAKE DEBUT TONIGHT

New York—Two German boxers, the first from the larger country to mix in an American arena, will be shown off to the customers in the Newcomers' show at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. There will be ten bouts of four rounds between hitherto and perhaps hitherto unknown boxers.

The Tontons scrappers are Urban Grass, a bantamweight, and Battling Arton, a middleweight. They will meet Carl Dunne and Jimmy Canora, respectively.

Frenchmen, Italians, Filipinos, Irishmen, Englishmen, and boxers from the Negro countries have been seen in New York in the last few years, to say nothing of one Belgian, an Argentinean, and one who claimed to be an American by descent. But these are positively the first Germans.

BOOSTER GAME AT HORTONVILLE FRIDAY

Special to Post-Crescent
Hortonville—The New London Athletic club five and the Hortonville Merchants will battle on the courts here for basketball honors in a booster game that has the backing of fans and business men of this town.

In addition to the game, the classic game will be made a gala event with a long and interesting entertainment. Clowns will entertain themselves between periods and prizes, contributed by the merchants of this town, will be awarded to the fans. The Hortonville band will come in full force and Domino Five will furnish dance tunes after the game.

Green Day is set for the biggest bowling tournament in the state which will begin Jan. 25. Nine hundred seventy-five teams will participate. Green Day's share will be 503 a man outfit. G. A. Walter, who scouted the ten pin knights together at the Bay, certainly ought to go down in sport annals as a real booster. Good for Green Day!

SOME SKATER

ROY McWHIRTER
Roy McWhirter of Chicago, national outdoor skating champion, is already going at top speed and confidently expects to shatter some of the skating records during the winter. McWhirter, with Joe Moore, William Steinmetz and Charles Jewtraw, comprise the four leading skaters of the country.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Talk of organizing a Michigan Wisconsin daily league will end in talk, in our opinion. Ludington, which is fostering the daily wheel with ease on both sides of Lake Michigan, participating is only a town of 6,000 and is hardly capable of furnishing a club with modern purses for players. The same is true with the other cities. The "mighty trip" across the lake, as proposed by the sponsors of the movement will be another handicap. Boats aren't half as dependable as trains. Most cities in Wisconsin seem to be taking the matter lightly.

Green Day is set for the biggest bowling tournament in the state which will begin Jan. 25. Nine hundred seventy-five teams will participate. Green Day's share will be 503 a man outfit. G. A. Walter, who scouted the ten pin knights together at the Bay, certainly ought to go down in sport annals as a real booster. Good for Green Day!

Box and live long. This is the motto of H. C. Bode of Plymouth, Wis., who won will be 70 years old. Bode recently came the "youngsters" of the state something to think about when he pulled 11 straight strikes and knocked over eight pins for a score of 235.

The Appleton City Bowling League passed its half way mark Tuesday night, completing the thirty third game of the schedule. There are 30 games left.

When a player, no matter what game, can't stand any kidding from the sidelines or from his opponents, he ought not to play at all. Players whose tempers mar the sport with blows ought to be removed from the game and punished if they are under the jurisdiction of an organization. Organized leagues have begun to clamp down the lid a long time ago on unnecessary roughness.

Georges Carpentier has been whitewashed by the Paris Boxing commission from the charges brought by Siki. The American public likes to believe in the old maxim: "Where there is smoke there must be fire." However, Georges is entitled to the benefit of the doubt as long as there is no absolute proof against him.

HILL IS WHIPPED BY ITALIAN CHAMP

George Hill, who is supposed to be in the east but who is in Chicago, met a tartar in the Windy City Monday night when he tackled an Italian named George Calza. Calza made a hit with the fans by whipping Hill after one fall, with a grapevine hold after 34 minutes and 35 seconds of wrestling. The bout was a preliminary to the Stocher-Tussane match which was won by Stocher. Hill and Calza wrestled only one fall.

CARROLL WINS FROM MILWAUKEE NORMAL

Milwaukee—Staging a sensational finish, the basketball team of Carroll college, Waukesha, took a fast and rough battle from Coach Barney Anderson's Milwaukee Normal five, 15 to 14, in the normal gymnasium Tuesday night before a capacity crowd.

After the Normals had led at the half, 12 to 8, the Waukesha Presbyterians staged a comeback and won out in the last half minute of play. With but thirty seconds to go, and Carroll trailing, 14 to 13, Starr was inserted into the fray. No sooner had the whistle blown than the newcomer sneaked to the corner of the court, nabbed a pass and flipped the ball through the net for the points that won the game.

The last half was a seasaw affair. With two minutes to go, Carroll was leading, 13 to 12, when a personal foul was called on a visiting player. Lynde, Normal free throw artist, dropped in both baskets and enabled his mates to regain the lead. Then came the thrilling finish.

Starring for the Waukesha aggregation were Capt. Diekmann, Ruehl and Dugan, the latter materially aiding his team by dropping in five free throws. The defensive work of Capt. Schwaers and four free throws by Lynde made them the celebrities for the Anderson crew.

APPLETON FANS TO ATTEND FONDY SHOW

Fond du Lac—This town will be the scene of boxing bugs Wednesday night. Twenty-eight rounds and four events are on tap for Wednesday night in the local arena.

All the matches on the card are attractive, but the one which is attracting the fans from Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Kaukauna, Appleton and other points in the Fox River Valley is the match between Jack Zepik and Jimmy Nichols which is the 10 round windup event. In the eight round semifinal, Jake Lange of Oshkosh will meet Jimmy Young of Chicago. A snappy six round affair will be staged by Johnny Herzog of Oshkosh and Walter Hernake of Chicago. The four round preliminary will be between Frank Bode of Fond du Lac and Battling Herb of Oshkosh. Bouter Jacob will referee all the bouts.

MILTON CAGERS ARE DROPPED BY COACH

Milton—Coach Crandall wrecked the Milton college basketball team on Monday when he dropped four regulars, for "flagrant violation of training rules on the recent Plattville trip." It was learned here on Tuesday.

The men told to turn in their suits are Howard McCall, Russell Hill, 1922 football captain, Alexander Daland and Franklin Bentz. Coach Crandall is now faced with making a team from scrubs to play Plattville, Ripon and the Wisconsin school of mines.

BASKET BALL QUIZ by Referee

Is there a penalty if a captain asks for time out when the ball is in possession of the opposing side out of bounds?

Under such conditions time out should not be granted and a foul may be called by the referee for delaying the game.

Calls 9 Bad Strikes But Makes His Train

"I never think of Jack Powell but what I recall a run-in he had with Tim Hurst at Philadelphia," says Bobby Wallace, now scouting for the Chicago Cubs.

"It was on a Saturday, and in those days no games were played in the east on Sunday. When working in Philly, Tim Hurst always spent his evenings in New York, leaving from North Philadelphia right after the game.

"Powell was pitching this Saturday and was being badly bumped. He and Tim were disagreeing considerably. At the start of the last half of the eight the Athletics had beaten something like 11 to 3.

"Powell, knowing that Hurst was anxious to get the express from North Philadelphia at a certain time, decided to upset Tim's plans.

"Jack walked the first three men who faced him, filling the bases. It then dawned on Hurst what Powell was trying to do.

"What's the idea?" asked Tim. "Nothing except you are going to miss your train," replied Powell. "Guess again," said Hurst.

"Whereupon Tim proceeded to call the next three batters out on strikes on nine pitched balls, despite the fact that one of them was within a foot of the plate.

"The Philadelphia players, wise to the situation, made no objection rather enjoying the run in between the two. After each strike Hurst would say: "So you think I am going to miss my train, Johnny."

"He made it with minutes to spare."

BELOIT ISSUES CALL FOR TRACK

Beloit—Call for Beloit college track candidates has been issued by Coach E. J. Osgood, and indoor efforts will be directed toward the development of a relay team to represent Beloit at the Illinois carnival and Drake games.

Clayton Addie, Chicago 1, A. C. runner, is captain of the team and has been a relay man for three years. Ray Rietz, Rock Island, and Blaisdell Gates, Beloit, are two others who have been on the quartet since 1921.

Beloit won third in the college mile last year at Urbana, and in 1921 placed both at Urbana and the Drake relays. The team also won the college indoor relay championship at University of Wisconsin for two years. The Badger meet, Feb. 17, will be the first for Beloit this winter. Coach Osgood is seeking a fourth man for his team, and has a wealth of material.

UNIVERSITY BALL CLUB TO TOUR SOUTH

Madison—The University of Wisconsin baseball team will start out on a southern trip early in April, having arranged games with Mississippi W. Mississippi A. and M., the University of Alabama and Mississippi college, beginning on April 6 and ending April 14. Two games will be played at each school, two day stop overs be
